9:30 Registration

10:00 NHS reforms and NHS IT- what's next?

Jon Hoeksma, Editor of EHI, will be talking to the group about the current NHS reforms, the importance of innovative and flexible IT solutions, and the need for strong leadership from clinical champions

10:45 The art of the possible 'What's working now'

Information technology has long been seen as a mechanism for improving efficiency and patient safety across the NHS. We are best of breed suppliers with proven solutions who are working together to provide NHS Trusts and GP consortia with the tools they need to improve healthcare delivery across the UK. We will be sharing our experiences of implementing solutions across a range of healthcare settings.

Presentations from:

11:00 Ardentia

Ardentia is the leading dedicated supplier of world class healthcare business intelligence solutions in the UK. Working at every level of the health service, including Trusts and PCTs among their clients, as well as SHAs and National organisations.

11:15 Docobo

Adrian Flowerday, Managing Director of Docobo will be talking about the doc@HOME system which allows recording of vital signs and symptoms by the patient in their home. Use in supporting discharge enables the patient to be closely monitored on return home from hospital. The patient's condition can be controlled and by timely interventions to prevent further exacerbations, and associated re-admissions. Overall patients are less anxious, control their symptoms better and their quality of life is improved.

11.30      Graphnet Health

Graphnet Health has been providing communities with shared care records for over 15 years. They have systems spanning across Primary care, Secondary care, Mental Health, Community services, Social services and Out of hours providers. Their clinical portal allows clinicians to access information about their patient irrespective of organisational boundaries. Michael Applewhaite, Business Development Manager of Graphnet Health will be talking to the group about their experience of implementing patient records across communities and the benefits that this brings to both clinicians and patients.

11.45      Plumtree Group

Plumtree Group is a market leader in electronic data capture and document management solutions. For 35 years they have supplied 200 healthcare organisations across Europe with technology designed to minimise the time, cost and complexity associated with healthcare information management. Ben Dorks, Group Sales & Marketing Director of Plumtree Group will be talking to the group about the benefits that their clients have realised by implementing their EDM solution.

12:00      The Learning Clinic

VitalPAC, The Learning Clinic's flagship mobile software product, keeps clinicians up-to-date on three key questions: WHO their patients are, WHERE they are, and HOW they are. By providing real-time answers to these questions, VitalPAC helps clinicians deliver safe, reliable care. Roger Killen, Managing Director of The Learning Clinic will be talking to the group about how VitalPAC can shorten length of stay, reduce admissions to intensive care and cut mortality rates.

12:15      Q&A

12:30      'What's possible' showcase and Lunch

Lunch will be provided whilst delegates have the opportunity to network with colleagues and see product demonstrations.
