

VitalPAC[®] DOCTOR

VitalPAC DOCTOR provides medical staff with secure, real-time access to patients' clinical information and test results on a PDA or compatible mobile phone.

Patient information

The VitalPAC DOCTOR home screen displays a clinician's list of patients and the following information about each patient:

- Ward, bay and bed location
- Early Warning Score (EWS) – a measure of patient risk
- Change in EWS (improving or deteriorating)
- Infection status (when used with VitalPAC INFECTION CONTROL)
- Other clinical alerts
- Active and triggered personal alerts

Patient summary

Tapping on a patient name on the home screen displays a clinical summary for that patient. This screen shows the patient's age, sex, specialty, consultant and length of stay, together with details of all relevant clinical alerts for that patient.

Clinical charts, test results and other patient information

A clinician can view patients' clinical charts in real-time, as well as the underlying data collected for each set of observations. VitalPAC DOCTOR also provides easy access to patients' pathology and radiology results and reports. A clinician can view observation status and interval, last observing nurse, admission date and length of stay.

The listening service can be set for several vital signs such as blood-pressure, pulse, temperature...

Personal alerts (listening service)

The doctor can set alerts to trigger when key events take place, for example when a patient's test results have been published, or when clinical observations reach a pre-determined threshold. The listening service can be set for several vital signs (such as blood-pressure, pulse, temperature etc) and is easy to set up and manage.

Easy to use

VitalPAC DOCTOR has been carefully designed in close collaboration with doctors and other clinicians to ensure that it is intuitive and easy to use with minimal training.

Suitable for Windows Mobile based mobile phones

VitalPAC DOCTOR has been designed to best exploit Microsoft Windows mobile phone technology and operates alongside other commonly used applications such as email, diary and text messaging.
